

moviesite

where production begins

Issues

Do you need to manage filming applications or permits in your own or nearby areas?

Do you need to need to manage filming applications and permits with partners?

Do you need excellent value for money?

Do you need to see how film applications and permits fit into a production?

Do you need to invoice for permits and take payment?

Do you need to do this as easily as possible without using up too much time?

If so, then MovieSite permits are right for you

“

Just to say, I had to send out quite a few permits last week and I found the new system really easy to use – no issues from applicants, it's easy to see the details of the projects as well as the actions that take place – all in all a great experience so thanks for all your hard work so far in getting it to come together.

”

MovieSite Permits allows for filming applications and permit issuing for both the smallest and largest office.

As with all MovieSite modules you only need to use what you need.

Multi-area/council permit applications with single log on for productions

Great communications, notifications and messaging with all stakeholders involved with permitting in your area

Simple "shopping basket / cart" for productions

Calendar integration for your organisation so you have complete oversight

Built-in invoicing to make sure of faster payment

Built-in credit card payment to make life easier for productions

Streamlined and efficient approval with audit trail of documentation

Go-to place for productions to keep their application and production history

Includes enquiries

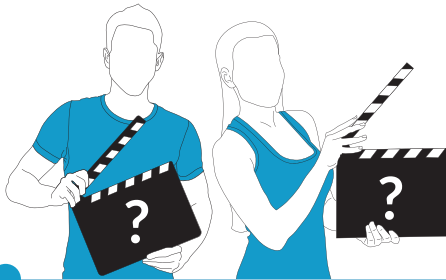

Key reporting on sustainability, local business activity and crew employment

Contact management to build stronger relationships with productions

Cost effective and great value.

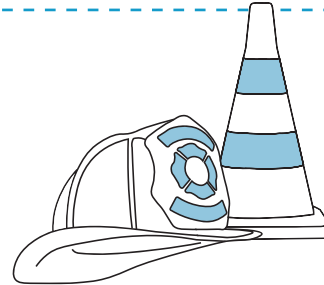

Location managers looking to shoot in particular places for TV program.

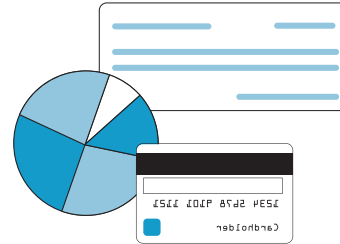

They each use online permit system.

Film office processes several application simultaneously.

Film office contacts Highways department and emergency services.

Film office sends out permits, invoices and reports.

Whether the application is for a rural countryside location or innercity street, the application process has been developed with the applicant in mind and means production companies have the confidence that their application will be dealt with quickly and efficiently

OpenBrolly

64a Cumberland Street
Edinburgh, Scotland
EH3 6RE

+44 3333 443563
enquiries@openbrolly.com
www.openbrolly.com